Quick Arrests Made in Connection with Church Thefts

Jerry Sparks
Senior Reporter

The Kentucky State Police, Richmond Post, was contacted early in the morning on Wednesday, January 11th, 2012 by Pastor Ronnie Hurst to investigate a burglary that occurred at the War Fork Holiness Church located along Hwy 587 near the Jackson County High School near McKee, KY. Trooper Jesse Armstrong responded to the scene and began the investigation. Three guitars and food items had been stolen sometime during the previ-

Federal Trial Scheduled for District #3 Magistrate Rose

Jerry Sparks
Senior Reporter

District #3 Magistrate Doug Rose, 46, is scheduled to appear in federal court in the Eastern District London US Court on January 30th, 2012. According to the U.S. District Court Clerks Office (Eastern District - London),

Rose is facing charges of assaulting/resisting/impeding/officer/employees. Answering to the same incident Rose appeared in the local court last September (2011) to address charges of 4th degree Domestic Violence and Criminal Trespass after he allegedly entered Sand Gap Post Office, the workplace of his wife, and assaulted her. Rose was caught on video throwing soda across the counter onto his wife, then jumping across the counter, pulling his wife's hair and scratching her. Rose was arrested as he left the post office. This arrest marked third leading up to (and including) the event.

The other two came as a result of appearing in public establishments (Fill Ups and Apple Market) appearing to be visibly impaired. The two arrests saw Rose charged with Public Intoxication/Controlled Substance. Rose pled guilty to misdemeanor charges in those two cases and was fined $25 for each offense plus court costs. Misdemeanors are relatively minor charges and do not disqualify one from holding a public office. However, if Rose is found guilty of a felony offense(s) at the end of the month he could be removed his office as Magistrate. The trial is scheduled for two days and is being handled by US attorney Jason Parman.

City Council Voices Concerns Over Water Bills for Renters

Phillip Worm Johnson provides some assistance during discussions regarding the technical requirements of council meeting minutes.

The City Council held its regular monthly meeting on Monday, January 16th, 2012. Under new business the council discussed procedural protocol regarding water accounts and bills that involved rental properties where the renters were failing to pay the bill but the account and meter were registered under the landlord's name. It was determined that the city must deal with the owner of the account and if the bill wasn't paid then the meter and the service would be terminated after due notice. Any arrangement between the landlord and the renter was a private matter that the city had no control over.

"The most important thing is that we be fair and consistent with our protocol," said Councilperson April Thomas.

In other business, the city council approved minutes from meetings held on October 17th, 2011, November 21st, 2011, December 5th, 2011, December 6th, 2011 and December 19th, 2011. The council voiced their concerns that so much time was being spent on the task of getting minutes approved. City Clerk Marla Fields asked for guidance from the council regarding the level of detail they desired in the meeting minutes. Fields had spent over 9 hours on one set of minutes that still had not received approval by the council. "These aren't minutes," said Councilper-son Kathy Howell. "This is a book." The handbook regarding minute requirements states that they need only contain motions and votes. However, these are generally accompanied by a cursive summary of the issues discussed and important dialogue and points made by citizens and council members. However, more and more detail was being requested and the minutes were being tabled over and over to include the additional information.

"We need to include a summary of the meetings dialogue but we also need to trust the judgment of our clerk in determining the significance of what gets included," said Councilperson Thomas. It was agreed

Taylor also holds the title of 2008 Kentucky Sate Photogenic for Jackson County. Taylor has competed in pageants throughout the state of Kentucky as well as in neighboring Tennessee.

Twenty-three of the thirty-seven titles Taylor has won 23 have been Grand Supreme or Overall Titles. She has accumulated over 25 medals and over 20 optional trophies throughout her pageant career. “Taylor works very hard on her routines and puts a lot of effort into her pageants. She enjoys them so much,” said Mrs. King. When asking Taylor what she would like to do with her pageant career she stated, “I want to be on T.V. and be Miss America one day.” She is definitely pursuing her dream to someday become Miss America and she is so excited that she will be on national television. Taylor wanted to thank all of her family, friends, and those that have supported her throughout her career. Taylor is the 5-year-old daughter of David and King of Tyner, KY.

“Where we are today is that we have less money and we have less people to implement some of our programs,” he reported. “And we have more complex programs than ever and more of them to implement. So what we really needed to do was to take a hard look at the way we do business.”

Herrick reports that the USDA is only considering closing offices where other county offices are relatively close by. If the McKee office is closed the nearest FSA office is located in London, KY. There is a public meeting scheduled for Thursday, February 2nd, 2012 on the second floor in the old courthouse in McKee to solicit input to inform their USDA on their decision. A final decision is expected within 90 days.

School Budget Update

Submitted by
JCPS Central Office

All of us have recently felt the pain of hard times due to the struggling economy. No doubt most readers remember quite vividly the struggle our school district wrestled with just a few months ago as it worked to develop a balanced budget for School Year 2011-12 in the face of severely shrinking revenue that was fueled mostly by decreasing state and federal dollars.

The Jackson County Public School District depends very heavily on SEEK dollars from the State. The Support Excellence in Kentucky (SEEK) fund, is the primary source of funding for the state’s 174 public school districts. In school year 2009-10 the district received $11,790,130 from the SEEK program. Last year (SY 2010-11) the district received $11,213,667, a loss of $576,463 from the prior year. For the current school year the district will receive $11,007,814 for another loss of $782,316. Over the last two year period, the district has received $1,358,779 less in SEEK funding than it would have if that funding had remained at the 2009-10 level.

The Jackson County Public School District has taken several significant steps toward stabilizing its budget in the face of those extreme revenue losses, and those actions appear to have combined to move the district back toward sound financial condition.

We can see some light at the end of the tunnel. It appears the newly implemented Utility Tax will produce about $525,000 per year. Staffing cuts and reorganization have also resulted in significant savings. Energy conservation and other similar belt tightening measures have also been effective. Additionally, the district is very hopeful of beginning to receive Impact Aid dollars from the Federal government that will help offset our loss of property tax revenue due to the large portion of the county that is covered by the Daniel Boone National Forest.

Even larger districts like Laurel County have found it necessary to increase taxes in order to maintain services. No one knows yet what the current legislature will do concerning appropriations for its public schools, but hopefully it will see the necessity of providing adequate dollars to stop the losses schools have experienced during a tough financial time. The citizens of Jackson County and the Jackson County Public School District have done more than their part, and often with very painful measures, to maintain and build despite the severe reductions in state and federal funding.

PRIDE in Clay, Jackson and Rockcastle Counties’ schools

Wonda Hammons is leading environmental lessons in Clay, Jackson and Rockcastle Counties’ elementary schools as the PRIDE Environmental Education Liaison.

“We are so pleased these local partners are supporting the program, and we appreciate the cooperation by the superintendents, principals and teachers,” said PRIDE’s Tammie Wilson.

“Ms. Hammons is an experienced PRIDE liaison,” she added. “She works well with teachers to support them and reach as many students as possible. She is a talented artist and integrates art into many lessons.”

When Hammons was Jackson County’s liaison for the 2009/2010 school year, she spearheaded a contest to create student-designed road signs with environmental messages. The signs are now visible across the county, and the project won a PRIDE award. She is an active member of the Jackson County PRIDE Committee.

PRIDE is a nonprofit organization that promotes “Personal Responsibility In a Desirable Environment” in southern and eastern Kentucky. PRIDE works with communities to improve water quality, clean up solid waste problems and increase environmental awareness. PRIDE was founded in 1997 by Congressman Hal Rogers (KY-5) and James Bickford, former Kentucky Secretary of Environmental Protection.

USDA NATURAL RESOURCES CONSERVATION SERVICE ANNOUNCES SIGN-UP PERIOD FOR THREE NATIONAL CONSERVATION INITIATIVES

Chuck Gibson
DISTRICT CONSERVATIONIST

USDA’s Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) has announced that the first of three ranking period cut-off dates for the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP) Organic, High Tunnel (Hoop Houses) and On-Farm Energy Initiatives is February 3, 2012. Producers interested in any of these three programs should submit applications to their local NRCS office by the deadline so that their applications can be considered during the first ranking period of 2012.

The Organic Initiative will focus on individuals who are currently certified Organic or are transitioning to become certified Organic. NRCS provides assistance to eligible producers for installation of conservation practices on agricultural operations related to organic production.

The Season High Tunnel (Hoop House) Initiative will assist producers to extend the growing season for high value crops in an environmentally safe manner. This initiative will also assist in improving plant quality, soil quality, air quality, reducing nutrient and pesticide transport, along with reducing energy use as well.

The On-Farm Energy Initiative will be used to specifically address energy conservation through practice implementation and for development of Energy Conservation Plans.

Local NRCS offices will accept applications on a continuous basis. The first ranking period cut-off date as mentioned is February 3, 2012. The second cut-off ranking date is March 30, 2012 with the third cut-off date being June 1, 2012.

For more information, visit the NRCS National Web site, or contact NRCS District Conservationist Chuck Gibson at 606-287-8314 ext. 3.

Wonda Hammons is bringing PRIDE to Clay, Jackson and Rockcastle Counties’ elementary schools, thanks to partnerships among local agencies and PRIDE.

As the counties’ PRIDE Environmental Education Liaison, Hammons visits local classrooms to lead fun, hands-on activities that will prepare students for state science tests and life-long environmental stewardship.

She has worked with 1,842 students in the three counties so far this school year.

Hammons was hired through the PRIDE Environmental Education Outreach Program. The program increases children’s environmental knowledge by providing curriculum-based lessons, which complement teachers’ classroom instruction, and by involving students in cleanup activities. It targets third, fourth and fifth-grade classes, with an emphasis on fourth-graders, who take the annual state science test. Examples of topics covered by the program’s liaisons include native plants and energy conservation.

PRIDE offers the program in 38 counties of southern and eastern Kentucky. In each county, local leaders pay a fee, based on student population, to enroll their schools. During the 2010-2011 school year, 19 counties enrolled in the program, and liaisons reached 26,796 students.

In Clay County, the U.S. Forest Service’s Redbird Ranger District enrolled local schools in the program for the 2011-2012 school year.

The Jackson County Fiscal Court enrolled its school system. In Rockcastle County, the annual enrollment fee was paid by the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court, Rockcastle County School System and Appalachia Science in the Public Interest.

A House Divided: Redistricting raises concerns about the rest of 2012 session

Submitted by State Representative
Marie Rader

Week two of the 2012 Legislative Session took a partisan and personal turn as we wrestled with redistricting in the House of Representatives.

The House majority introduced their redistricting plan this week, which places at least nine of my fellow colleagues against each other including three incumbents into one district.

Redistricting takes place every 10 years, and we know and understand that lines sometimes have to be shifted based on the rise and decline of population across our great Commonwealth. But for such a plan to be put together in such a way that our members are placed at a great disadvantage is unfortunately the partisan and sometimes personal nature that the path to redistricting takes.

How partisan is the plan drawn by the majority? A fellow colleague now finds his mailbox, only 100 feet from his door now in another district. And in my new proposed district a path would run through Laurel County connecting my home county of Jackson with McCreary County, and taking me out of Owsley County which is an area I have proudly represented for years.

It didn’t have to be this way. Our leadership and I stood ready to work side by side with those across the aisle to draft a redistricting plan that would be fair and equitable to all Kentuckians. But now their actions have created a terse and contentious atmosphere and could endanger any work we still need to do to improve our Commonwealth.

It is my sincere hope that we, as legislators, can find some way to work together. Many regions of Kentucky have suffered for years because of actions taken purely for political reasons, and others will suffer because the person they chose to represent them will no longer be there because of partisanship. Voters select the person who best represents them no matter their political affiliation. I hope that you will keep all of us in your thoughts and prayers for the remainder of the session as we continue our work in the General Assembly.

As always, I welcome your comments and concerns for the upcoming session. I can be reached at home at (606) 287-7303, or through the toll-free message line in Frankfort at 1-800-372-7181. A taped message containing information on legislative committee meeting schedules is available by calling 1-800-633-9650, and information on the status of each bill is available by calling 1-866-840-2835. If you have Internet access, I can be reached at marie.rader@lrc.ky.gov, or you may keep track of legislation through the Kentucky Legislature Home Page at www.lrc.ky.gov.

ous night. “They damaged the doors leading into the church and also into the small building annex while trying to gain access,” said Pastor Hurst.

By noon the investigation had led Trooper Armstrong to recover all the stolen property and at 12:02 pm Quinton M Jones, and Curtis L Broughton (both 20 years old and from Sand Gap, KY) were arrested in connection with the theft. According to Pastor Hurst the pair had stopped in the early morning hours at a residence within less than a mile from the church the night of the burglary requesting assistance with a flat tire. The pair exhibited suspicious behavior at that time and were the first suspects considered in the church burglary. They were lodged in the Jackson County Jail and charged with Burglary 3rd Degree. Trooper Jesse Armstrong is the investigating officer and Detective Rob Morris assisted him.

Deadline to Sign-up for ELAP is January 31, 2012

SED John McCauley, State Executive Director of USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) in Kentucky, reminds producers they have until Tuesday, January 31, 2012, to submit an application for payment under the 2011 Emergency Assistance for Livestock, Honey Bees, and Farm-raised Fish Program (ELAP).

ELAP provides emergency assistance to eligible producers of livestock, honeybees and farm-raised fish who have losses due to disease, adverse weather or other conditions, including losses due to blizzards, and wildfires.

ELAP assistance is for losses not covered under other disaster assistance programs established by the 2008 Farm Bill. FSA is authorized to spend up to $50 million per year nationwide to provide emergency relief for ELAP eligible losses.

Producer eligibility for ELAP requires that all crops in all counties have crop insurance coverage or Noninsured Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) coverage for the crop year in which benefits are requested.

2012 DCP/ACRE Sign Up Begins January 23

USDA Kentucky Farm Service Agency (FSA) State Executive Director, John W. McCauley reminds producer's enrollment for Average Crop Revenue Election (ACRE) Program or the traditional Direct and Counter-cyclical Program (DCP) begins January 23 and runs through June 1.

"Farmers in Kentucky who are interested in enrolling in these programs need to add this important deadline to their list of 'must do' jobs," McCauley said. "Producers should contact the local county office to set up appointments."

Annual contracts are required to be signed to receive program benefits. All signatures of producers receiving a share in DCP and ACRE payments are required by June 1, 2012.

For more information about DCP and ACRE programs or other FSA programs, contact your county FSA office and visit the state FSA website at: www.fsa.usda.gov/KY.

Producers who feel they have suffered a qualifying loss are encouraged to file an application for the 2011 ELAP. Contact your County FSA Office for more information regarding ELAP or visit our website at www.fsa.usda.gov.

TRUE VINE

INSPIRATIONAL THOUGHTS INTO GOD’S WORD

Author: Lynetta Hunter truevinebook.com

Matthew 5:20, 23:1-39, Luke 11:46, John 15:1-31

It was a time of spiritual separation, much like it is today in our religious society. Jews were under Roman authority but still had many Jewish religious freedoms, most of which lacked Godly discipline and true meaning. They became comfortable in making up the rules as they went along. Reason being they had disobeyed God to the point of abolishment of the Old Covenant and the New Covenant hadn’t been fulfilled, so spiritually speaking, there religion was no threat to anyone. During the 400 years between covenants, different sects were established, all with their own set of man-made rules and regulations. With a little help from prosperity and self-godliness, part of them became hard-core law oriented, consuming the right to force condemnation and oppression to others. But little did they know that all heaven was getting ready to break loose and religion was getting ready to change into a universal and unified Christianity, powered by God’s love for all mankind. The messianic prophecy some looked forward to was much more than their minds could even fathom. It had become the norm that religion was judgmental, oppressive, cruel, and prideful, and that each person should stay within their own prideful clique. Jesus entered His ministry teaching another way. Understandably, His teachings were so drastically different that they were hard to comprehend naturally. His authority threatened the power of the elected priests, captains, Sadducees, Pharisees, and rulers, who had for so long had rule over affairs in Jerusalem. Jesus spent His ministry preparing His disciples and those who truly loved Him for the other Comforter that was to come after His ascension. They had to know He would be a power that would be all He was promised to be, but He still must have exceeded their expectation. At Pentecost when the Holy Ghost came, He filled the place and all who would accept Him with God’s amazing love and enduring power. When the power of God’s love began being manifested through mankind, He offered hope, forgiveness, grace, unity and nurturing care for all. This was the complete opposite of religion as they had known it. The ones, who had never been good enough, rich enough, healthy enough, or satisfactory enough for the religious society, now had the opportunity to be a child of God and partake of His riches in glory. An awesome change took place that day that continues to be alive and available today, to all who are called and will accept it. As born-again believers, we have the choice to be spiritually separated because of our selfishness and high mindedness, or we can humbly choose to be unified by faith in Jesus Christ, allowing the Holy Ghost to be manifested in the truth and power of God’s amazing grace and reconciling love for all.

“A Simple Man”

Margaret Faye Hensley
Part 15

They got the chickens and the one rooster out of the truck. They set the crate by the coup and sat on some rocks to see how soon the animals would venture out into the yard.

The leaves were just starting to change colors and a few were floating down peacefully from the trees as they sat in companionable silence. It was late afternoon and the sun was warm. The house was at the end of the holler and flanked by mountains on each side. There were a few precious hours that the sun would shine directly on the house and the yard.

Liza had thrown a load of wash in earlier and decided to hang the clothes out on the line. Jake got a couple of folding chairs out of the little shed in the back, so they could supervise. Liza Jane had fond memories of hanging out clothes with her mother. Mommy had a certain way she hung clothes and Liza continued that pattern. She was softly singing a song when she heard clucking near her. She put the last shirt on the line, and looked behind her and was amazed to find all the chickens and the rooster standing still and about two feet away from her.

They had gathered there and were evidently mesmerized by her singing. She began to sing again and they looked directly at her and made no attempt to move. Liza sang a couple more songs and the animals remained there. She had forgotten about her daddy and Jake and was suddenly embarrassed by her singing to the chickens! She peeked through the towels on the line and saw the two men looking back at her with big smiles on their faces. Jake said, “Now we know how to get the chickens to come to us, we will just start singing our hearts out to them!”

Clarence started with a belly laugh that echoed off the hillside and then Jake started laughing and quickly Liza couldn’t stop laughing. She had tears rolling down her cheeks and her side was starting to hurt! Oh my gosh, she couldn’t remember laughing this hard in years and years. When Clarence regained his composure, he told them that he had worked up an appetite and was thinking he might get started in the kitchen making them some supper.

Liza sat down with Jake and looked out at the creek. “Do you know how to swim?” she asked Jake. “Matter of fact, I learned to swim in the river not too far from here,” Jake answered. “There were no city pools to go to, so we learned to swim and cooled off in the river” he stated. “I thought everyone would know how to swim and I was really shocked when I went into the Marine Corps and found out that some men didn’t know how to swim!” Jake explained. “My older brother taught me how to swim, sort of in a crash course I would call it!” he chuckled.

abuse issues”. The Kentucky Department of Corrections also honored Jensen with it’s highest award “In recognition of your visionary leadership, dedication and diligent efforts to make the Commonwealth a safer place for all Kentuckians to call home”. He also received the distinguished public service award “in recognition of his outstanding advocacy to reform the penal code and to improve access to addiction treatment in the Commonwealth of Kentucky” presented by the Kentucky Psychological Association. Jensen received the 2011 Public Advocate Award “for advancing justice through the criminal justice reforms”. He also received the KACDL Public Policy Award “for his leadership in establishing public policy that protects individual liberties, ensures fair process and improves the administration of justice”.

Earlier in the year, Jensen’s alma mater, University of the Cumberlands, recognized him for his leadership and presented him an award “for his patriotism and drive for excellence to his family, community and nation and for serving as a role model to others by taking active steps in the development of a free and strong America”. This award was presented to Jensen by former presidential candidate and FOX News Commentator, Mike Huckabee.

Jensen was also honored in 2011 for his civic contributions and excellence in his career by the Laurel County Homecoming Community.

Sheriff’s Department Welcomes Newest Deputy

Jerry Sparks
Senior Reporter

The Jackson County Sheriff’s Department recently welcomed Mr. Jonathon Sizemore as the newest employee to their force. Deputy Sizemore is a 1995 graduate of South Laurel High School. He graduated from the Police Academy in 2000 (Class 289) and from the Academy of Police Supervision in 2004. Sizemore is also a 2006 graduate of the Institute of Police Training and Management located in Florida. He is certified as a Field Training Officer, a Special Weapons and Tactics Officer as well as being a Tactical Baton Instructor.

“I have extensive back ground in active shooting situations as well as emergency management/incident command, Civil Disobedience crowd management,” reported Deputy Sizemore. “For the past 12 years I have worked in Lexington where I was a Sergeant. I have worked a variety of special assignments such as 5 years with SWAT and 3 years with the Gang Task Force.” Deputy Sizemore has been a resident of Annville for the past 18 months.

Generals Fall to Williamsburg in 13th Region All “A” Classic

Zack Lawson shoots a jumper from the side against Williamsburg.

Jerry Sparks

Senior Reporter

In collaboration with
JCHS Head Coach
Greg Parrett

The Generals hosted the Williamsburg Yellow Jackets last Saturday, January 14th, 2012 in the opening round of the 13th Regional All “A” Classic tournament. The two teams had faced off twice earlier this season each coming away with one victory. The Generals victory was decided by a single field goal (56-54) in the season opener. The Yellow Jackets got their revenge with a game decided by only 8 points (52-60) in the Cumberland Falls Invitational held at Corbin just before Christmas 2011.

The Generals played an outstanding game. Their intensity and focus were much improved from earlier season games. The Generals were up by 3 points at halftime 22-19. The Generals fell behind but were within 3 points (54-57) with 12.6 seconds left to play. Unfortunately, the effort wasn’t enough and the Generals lost by a final score of 56-61.

Coach Parrett reported, “I was very proud of our team. We won every statistical category but free throws.

We held them to an amazing 4 offensive rebounds for the game. We forced them into 15 turnovers compared to our 13. (which is down for us). We out rebounded them 26 – 19.”

However, the Jackets shot 33 free throws compared to the General’s 16 attempts from the charity stripe (some difference because the Generals were fouling at end of game to manage the clock and some because Williamsburg attacked rim harder than the Generals). Coach Parrett reported, “We must learn to attack the rim and get excellent shots in certain situations. Defensively we held Williamsburg top three scorers to 19 points total. This should have been good enough to win the game. However, they had two other kids step up and combine for forty points. That is what good players do when their teammates are not performing. I am challenging our team daily to have two or three more kids step up at the Varsity level. If we are to have a chance to make some noise at the end of the year we will have to have two-three other young kids step up and fill roles before seasons end.”

Adam Duncan led the Generals in rebounding with 7 followed closely behind by Justin Fox with 6 and Zach Lawson with 5 respectively. Justin Fox led in assists with 4 followed closely by Seth Bingham with 3. Jacob Hammons had 3 steals and played a good floor game. Justin Fox led the team scoring with 18 points followed by Zack Lawson (16 points), Seth Bingham (8 points), Jacob Hammonds (6 points), Adam Duncan (5 points) and Austin Whitehead (3 points). Seth Bingham gave a valiant defensive effort along with many others.

The Generals next game is on the road against Clinton County on Saturday, January 21st, 2012. The following two games will be played at home against Lynn Camp (January 26th, 2012) and Knox Central (January 28th, 2012). The Generals season record now stands at 8-8.
